Collection description:

This collection, representing five generations of the Dewey family of Williamstown, Northampton, and Worcester, Mass., and four generations of the Bliss family of Royalston and Worcester, Mass., includes correspondence to and among the family members as well as diaries, account books, school themes and notebooks, receipted bills, business documents, newsclippings and photographs. All five generations of Dewey men represented here were lawyers, four graduated from Williams College, three were judges, and three shared the same name, Francis Henshaw Dewey. Harrison Bliss (1812-1882)--whose daughter, Lizzie (1856-1950), married Francis H. Dewey II (1856-1933), thereby connecting the two families--became a highly successful entrepreneur in the booming Worcester of the mid-19th century. A sizeable portion of the collection was generated by the women of the family.

The letters are organized by recipient. Daniel Dewey (1766-1815), attended Yale College and was an attorney in Williamstown. Among the earliest letters in this collection is one written in 1807 by Daniel to his son Charles Augustus Dewey (1793-1866) who was at Lenox Academy. He also set down in the family Bible his religious philosophy and the names of his ancestors. Daniel was elected to Congress in 1813 but resigned the following year to accept an appointment to the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts.

Charles Augustus Dewey graduated from Williams College in 1811 and practiced law in Williamstown and Northampton until he too was named to the Supreme Judicial Court in 1837. He married twice; his first wife was Frances Aurelia Henshaw (1796-1821) and his second Caroline Hannah Clinton (1800-1864). Notable are the 11 gossip letters to Frances written by her friend Molly Hooker (-) between 1814 and 1819, as well as both sides of a correspondence between Frances and Samuel Rossiter Betts (1787-1868) and his wife Caroline Dewey Betts (1798-) during the years 1820-21.

Frances Henshaw Dewey died after giving birth to a son, Francis Henshaw Dewey I (1821-1887). FHD I graduated from Williams in 1840, studied law at Yale and Harvard, and began his law practice in Worcester in 1842. The earliest letters from him in the collection were written when he was a student at schools in Northampton, Pittsfield, and Amherst, 1833-36. Correspondence from his adult life deals with business and legal matters, and with his activities as an alumnus and trustee of Williams College and a member of the Kappa Alpha Society. The Williams College material contains letters from several of the college's presidents and treasurers and from fellow members of the finance committee. In 1869 he was appointed an associate justice of the Massachusetts Superior Court, and in the same year he was elected to membership in the American Antiquarian Society.

In 1846 FHD I married Frances Amelia Clarke (1826-1851). Frances, while dying of tuberculosis, wrote 43 letters to her husband from her parents' home in Northampton and from the South. FHD I's second wife was Sarah Barker Tufts Wheaton (1825-1906). By her first marriage to Henry S. Wheaton (1819-1862), Sarah had a daughter named Jane Bates Wheaton (1847-1863). Her marriage to FHD I produced 5 children who survived to adulthood: Caroline Clinton (1854-1878); Francis Henshaw (FHD II) (1856-1933); John Clarke (1857-1932); George Tufts (1858-1934); and Sarah Frances (1860-1892). The correspondence of Sarah Barker Tufts Wheaton Dewey provides a great deal of information about her family and domestic concerns. Of particular interest are letters written to her by FHD I during the years 1875-78, recounting his life on the judicial circuit, and offering advice as a parent in absentia. FHD II wrote a journal while attending the Fay School in Southborough, Mass., in 1868, as well as letters to his mother from St. Mark's School, and from Williams College. Another prolific correspondent was a cousin, Susie Dixon (1825-) who wrote nearly 30 letters between 1871 and 1894 from her home in Dedham, Mass. about family matters. Also noteworthy are a series of letters, 1872-75, from M. Bemis (1793-), an elderly friend of Sarah's family who wrote of the challenges of her isolated life in Dudley, Mass.

FHD II married Lizzie Davis Bliss (1856-1950) of Worcester in 1878, and together they are the largest contributors to the collection. Papers of the Bliss family include business papers of Lizzie's father Harrison Bliss, who was involved in many ventures including banks, railroads, and real estate. Harrison Bliss married Sarah Haven Howe (1814-1882) of Worcester in 1836. The schooling and conduct of Lizzie's brothers Harrison Bliss, Jr. (1843-1868) and William Howe Bliss (1850-1917) were a source of concern to their father. There are a number of letters from 1861-70 written by Harrison Bliss's business associate Francis LeBaron (-), in whose charge the boys were placed, as well as letters between Harrison Bliss, Jr. and his parents.

FHD II received a degree in law from Harvard in 1878, and was admitted to the bar in Worcester in 1879. He was involved in many enterprises including the Mechanics National Bank of Worcester, the Worcester Mechanics Savings Bank, the Worcester Gas Light Company, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, and several railroads. For 40 years he was a director or president of the Worcester Street Railway Company. In addition to business concerns, his papers reflect his many philanthropic interests including Williams College and its Kappa Alpha Society, Clark University, the Worcester Art Museum, the First Unitarian Church of Worcester, and the American Antiquarian Society. The collection contains 7 boxes of FHD II's general correspondence. Another box contains materials dealing solely with 1904 renovations to the Bay State House, a Worcester hotel. Additionally, there are 9 boxes of mostly personal receipted bills which offer a detailed picture of the daily life of a well-to-do family in this period. A series of correspondence ca. 1907-09 with the Alvan Fuller Packard, Cadillac Motor Car Co. in Boston attests to FHD II's avid interest in automobiling.

During the school year 1873-74 Lizzie attended Miss Ireland's School in Boston. There are many letters from her family and friends in this period, as well as her diary and school notebooks. In addition to letters from her parents, her correspondence from this general period contains numerous letters from her friend Leonard Parker Kinnicutt (1854-1911), then a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Frequently mentioned in letters to and from Lizzie and in her diary is the Rev. Edward Henry Hall (1831-1912), minister of the First Unitarian Church. Her youthful infatuation with Hall matured into a friendship which lasted until his death. After her marriage to FHD II, the Deweys built a house named "Stonecroft" at Narragansett Pier, R.I., where they spent summers for nearly 50 years. This life is reflected in their correspondence and in the "Stonecroft" guest books. Lizzie Bliss Dewey was a lifelong supporter of the First Unitarian Church and the Worcester Girls Club.

FHD II and Lizzie Bliss Dewey had two children. Their daughter Elizabeth Bliss Dewey (1883-1971) married Rockwood Hoar Bullock (1881-1958), and in 1913 their son, Francis Henshaw Dewey III (1887-1974) married Dorothy Flagg Bowen (1892-1974), of Providence, R.I. FHD III continued in the family tradition, graduating from Williams College in 1909 and from Harvard Law School in 1912. Like his father and grandfather, FHD III practiced law in Worcester. He was a director of the Mechanics National Bank, two railroads and an insurance company. He was also a trustee of Clark University. For many years he was on the board of the Worcester Art Museum and was a member of the American Antiquarian Society. In 1918, with his wife and family he moved to Washington, D.C. where he worked for the War Production Board. In 1919 he was part of the American delegation to the peace treaty negotiations at Versailles. Of interest are the wartime letters sent to him regularly by his parents from Worcester. Some of these letters reveal an undercurrent of anxiety about the illness of FHD III's infant daughter, who died from tuberculosis in Washington in 1918. There are five folders of the correspondence of Dorothy Bowen Dewey.

Travel was an important activity for all the Deweys. Their trips are described in their letters, travel journals, and in collections of ephemera, notably those from trips to Europe in 1844, California in 1898, Europe in 1904 and England in 1907.
