Collection description:

Ebenezer Turrell Andrews (1766-1851), the son of William and Mary Andrews, was born in Boston, Massachusetts on 18 November 1766. He was apprenticed to Isaiah Thomas (1749-1831) in Worcester, Massachusetts from 1781 to 1788. From 1788 to 1820, in partnership with Thomas and various others, he was a publisher and bookseller in Boston, Mass.; Baltimore, Md.; Albany, N.Y.; and Troy, N.Y. The dissolution of his partnership with Thomas occurred in 1820, but he continued as a bookseller in Boston through 1821. He retired in 1822 and remained in Boston where he died on 9 October 1851. He married twice; first, on 22 December 1791, Hermione Weld (-1807), and second, on 17 November 1808, Elizabeth ("Eliza") Weld (-).

These accounts are interleaved in Isaiah Thomas Junior's Town and Country Almanack ... 1815 ... (Worcester: Printed by William Manning, [1814]), which is inscribed: Mrs. Elizabeth Andrews, From her Friend, Isaiah Thomas. The accounts, interleaved on 15 pp., include "Expence of Keeping Horses" and several wage accounts for laborers, cooks, maids, etc., in the period 1814 to 1818.
