FOLDING GAME BOARDS.

(MADE SIMILAR TO BACKGAMMON BOARDS.)

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HOME GAMES.

Twelve Kinds. Per Assorted Gross, $48.00.

This series represents out-door amusements, sports, and occupations. As most of these belong to the Summer season, they will prove good rainy day games for Summer as for Winter evenings. Printed in colors. Size of folded boards, nine a quarter inches long by five and three-quarters wide. Put up in assorted dozens, containing one of each.

- 1. TIGHT-ROPE DANCING.—On a network of rope stretched across a river. "Blondins," in bright costumes, are crossing on the ropes—others falling from it. The object of the game is to cross on the rope by means of dice.
- 2. QUILTS.—A backwoods scene, where a party are engaged in the invigorating out-door game. Quilts are arranged around the "hubs," as though a game were in progress. These are numbered, and the players play for them by means of dice, counting according to their nearness to the hub.
- 3. LEAP FROG.—This board contains a circular row of spaces, with a comical frog picture in the centre. Played with dice and checkers. The moves correspond with the idea conveyed by the title.
- 4. DUCK SHOOTING.—In this board a party of hunters, occupying a boat in a river, are represented as shooting ducks. The ducks having discovered their enemy, are taking to flight. Each throw of the dice kills the duck having the corresponding number. Very entertaining.
- 5. NAVAL ENGAGEMENT.—A stirring scene between a fort and a fleet of vessels. The guns of the fort are belching forth fire and smoke, which the ships are returning with activity. The throws of the dice sink the vessels, or silence the guns of the fort, as the case may be. The side holding out longest wins.
- 6. FISHING.—Is carried out upon a board representing a bridge, filled with fishermen, who are watching their lines for a "bite." During the game the fish must not only be hooked, but must be drawn out of the water,—a very interesting and by no means certain operation.
- 7. SPIDER AND FLY.—A familiar scene in every country, though somewhat magnified upon the board. A huge spider's web, with numbered spaces, is stretched between two trees, and forms the basis of a very fine game.
- 8. CROQUET.—A representation of a fine lawn, with wickets laid out, and party of young people engaged in play. The wickets are numbered, and the directions provide for moves that are in harmony with the field game. A fine parlor substitute for out-door croquet.
- 9. FALCONRY.—Is based upon the popular amusement of the twelfth century. The board contains a picture, representing a party engaged in this sport. The move is different for each die, making the game both novel and entertaining.
- 10. THE PEARL DIVERS.—The board contains a representation of the method of gathering pearls in the East. The Divers' uncertainty of success is well exemplified throughout the game. Simple, and well calculated to please.
- 11. RABBIT HUNT.—A pretty landscape, having in its centre a rabbit warren, surrounded by a circular series of numbered spaces. One player represents the rabbit, and the rest of the players the hounds. Method of play different from either of the foregoing.
- 12. BEAR HUNT.—A comical idea, carried out in an unusually simple and interesting game. The design contains four large trees, with several bears and huntsmen. The object of the game is to climb the trees by the odd and even combinations of the dice.

STANDARD FOLDING GAMES.

In speaking of the marked excellence of this line of games, both in the style of the boards and in play, we can scarcely refrain from covering a page or more of our catalogue. As they cannot fail to be conspicuous among other lines of goods, we will let them speak for themselves, simply saying that each board contains three distinct games, each executed in the best style of art that we can command. The games themselves are simple, varied, and entirely new. Size of boards when opened, eighteen inches square. The implements are neat, substantial, and pleasing. Directions clear and explicit.

THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS---(New.)

Three Games in one Board, viz.:

Pilgrim's Progress. Going to Sunday School. Tower of Babel.

Each Board separately wrapped and labeled.

THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

Is based upon the work of John Bunyan. The design is in the form of an eight-pointed star. The Celestial City, surrounded by the River of Death, occupies the centre of the board. At the angles and points of the star there are illustrations of the principal events in the Pilgrim's journey. The game is played with our new Indicator, and is based upon six different colors, which have been worked into it in a very pleasing manner. An illustrated synopsis of Bunyan's book accompanies the game.

GOING TO SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Occupies one-half of the inside of the board. In the centre of this game there is a large clock dial, entwined with an elaborate and graceful vine of ivy. The margin of the board is handsomely laid out, and contains a number of illustrated spaces. At the four corners there are four large and handsome churches. The players move around the margin of the board, and register upon the clock dial the time occupied in so doing.

THE TOWER OF BABEL

Occupies the remaining half of the inside. This is an elaborate design, and presents the appearance of an imposing structure, with the artisans busily at work, as they might have appeared just prior to the dispersion of its builders. The game is played with the Indicator, using both colors and numbers. At one stage of the game there is confusion among the players, corresponding to that which must have taken place upon the confounding of tongues. The players change men by means of the Indicator.

JOHN GILPIN---(New.) Per Gross, $180.00

Three Games in one Board, viz.:

John Gilpin. Rainbow Backgammon. The Bewildered Travelers.

Each Board separately wrapped and labeled.

JOHN GILPIN

Occupies the outside, and is the principal game. The design in outline resembles a wheel—very showy, and handsomely colored. Its border, or rim, is the London town road, and the parts corresponding to the spokes are cross-roads leading to the Islington Inn, which is in the centre of the board. The object of the game is to reach the Inn. No simple game of such varying and absorbing interest has before been made. Nearly all games of special merit are necessarily complex, but John Gilpin is a game that a child or an adult may play, and such is the fascination of this remarkable game that both will want to play "one more game" before they relinquish it.

RAINBOW BACKGAMMON

Occupies one-half of the inside of the board, and consists of a rainbow of points projecting inward from the outside. Every alternate third point reaches to a circular space in an ornamental centre in the middle of the board. There are twelve of these spaces. These are covered with counters, which are won by occupying the proper point. This game combines both chance and skill, is new, and very entertaining.

THE BEWILDERED TRAVELERS

Is a very unique game. It consists of a Checker Board having a large number of squares, the outside row being numbered, to indicate certain moves. At each corner of the board there are handsome houses—the "Homes" of the Travelers. The design of this game is very attractive. It is so arranged that the moves are based alternately upon chance and skill, while the judgment of the player must always be on the alert.

JEROME PARK STEEPLE CHASE GAME.

Per Gross, $216.00

Three Games in one Board, viz.:

The Steeple Chase Game. The Balky Horse. Pool.

Each Board separately wrapped and labeled.

THE STEEPLE CHASE GAME

Has been a popular amusement on the continent of Europe and in England for many years. Recently it has been imported into the United States in considerable quantities. This board differs from the others in style and size. When folded, it is fourteen inches long by twelve and a quarter inches wide. Printed in colors, after the style of the English boards. Furnished with horses in colors mounted upon standards, dice-cups, and dice.

THE GAME OF THE BALKY HORSE

Occupies one-half of the inside of the board, and is played upon the numbered spaces arranged in a circle. The centre of the board has a standard or button, upon which revolves a wooden cross. The horses are mounted upon this, and set in motion by the thumb and forefinger. The game is played with counters. Each player has a horse, and names a space upon which one of the horses will stop.

POOL

Occupies the other half of the inside of the board, and consists of two sets of playing cards, running from the ace to the ten spot, printed alternately in red and black. One set occupies one, and the other the opposite end of the board. The players use counters, horses, and the revolving cross-piece. If their horse stops upon a space whose number corresponds to a card, they make a point in the game.

GAME OF LIFE'S MISHAPS---(New.)

Per Gross, $108.00

Two Games in one Board, viz:

Life's Mishaps.

Domino Rex.

Each Board separately wrapped and labeled.

THE GAME OF LIFE'S MISHAPS

Occupies the outside of this Board. It contains forty-eight spaces of various shapes and sizes, printed in colors. Twenty of these spaces contain the ludicrous adventures of a son of the Emerald Isle. The balance of the spaces are blanks. Each player is provided with counters, and the object of the game is to reach, by their aid, the space numbered forty-eight. The mishaps are the set-backs upon the road. The players first reaching forty-seven and forty-eight win.

THE GAME OF DOMINO REX

Occupies both spaces of the inside of this Board. In each half space there is a Checker Board, containing forty squares, sixteen of them having spots like those of a domino. In front of each checker board there are two semi-circular rows of spaces, numbered from seven to eleven. The game is played with checkers only. These are placed one each upon the domino squares, and one each upon the first row of spaces. The uncovering of a domino square by one player, determines in a measure the move of his opponent. In simplicity, originality, and scope of play, the game has but few equals.

THE CAPTIVE PRINCESS.....Per Gross, $108.00

Three Games in one Board, viz:

Captive Princess.

Tournament.

Zig-Zag.

Each Board separately wrapped and labeled.

THE CAPTIVE PRINCESS.

This game contains thirty-nine colored squares, arranged in a concentrating row, and terminating in a castle, at the centre of the board. A landscape pathway, containing several mounted knights in full armor, also leads to the castle. The game is played on colored cubes, and is so simple that its description occupies only ten lines. The object of the game is to rescue the Princess, and the player first reaching the castle wins.

TOURNAMENT.

Occupies one-half of the inside of the board, and in outline presents the form of a large circle between two triangles. These are divided into small circular spaces, which are occupied by the pieces. Each player has three knights, which he endeavors to get into the home or base of his opponent. The large circular part of the design is the battle-ground, and as it has but one point or space on each side, for ingress and egress, there is a fine opportunity for skillful play. The design and game are both original and unique.

ZIG-ZAG.

Occupies the other half of the interior of the board, and is laid out in triangular and diamond-shaped spaces. It is also played with three knights, who are moved forward to the opponent's end of the board, subject to set-backs and displacements. They are then doubled up, and from these return to their own bases as one man. Zig-Zag, in simplicity, is especially adapted for young people.
