

OBITUARIES.

ROBERT ALONZO BROCK.

Robert Alonzo Brock died July 12, 1914, in Richmond, Va., in which city he was born March 9, 1839. His life was spent in historical studies, chiefly concerning his native State. He was corresponding secretary of the Virginia Historical Society from 1875 to 1893 and editor of eleven volumes of its Collections. Since 1887, he has been secretary of the Southern Historical Society and editor of twenty-three volumes of its papers. He was also associate editor of the "Richmond Standard" from 1879 to 1883. He was author of numerous papers on historical and genealogical subjects and a member of many learned societies in this country, Canada and Europe. He was elected to this Society in 1877 and although distance prevented him from attending the meetings, he frequently contributed material to the Library. S. U.

RALPH CHARLES HENRY CATTERALL.

Ralph Charles Henry Catterall was born in Bolton, England, March 29, 1866, and died in Huron, Mich., August 2, 1914. He was graduated from Bucknell University in 1891 with the degree of A.B., in 1892 received the same degree from Harvard and in 1902 the degree of Ph.D. from the University of Chicago. He was instructor in history in the University of Chicago from 1894 to 1902 and assistant professor of history at Cornell University from 1902 to 1905, since which year he was professor of modern European history at that University. In 1902 he published

"The Second Bank of the United States," as one of the University of Chicago Decennial publications and was an occasional contributor to the proceedings of learned societies. He was a member of the American Historical Association and was elected to this Society in 1908. On June 24, 1896, he married Helen Honor Tunnicliff, of Macomb, Ill. s. u.

ALEXANDER FRANCIS CHAMBERLAIN.

Alexander Francis Chamberlain was born in Kenninghall, England, January 12, 1865, and died in Worcester, Mass., April 8, 1914. He was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1886 with honors in modern languages and ethnology, and received from that institution the degree of A.B. in 1886, and of A.M. in 1889. He was a fellow in modern languages in University College, Toronto, 1887 to 1890; examiner in French and German, department of education in Toronto, 1888 and 1889; librarian of Canadian Institute, Toronto, 1889 and 1890; examiner in German, University of Toronto, 1888 to 1891, and examiner in modern languages at Trinity University, Toronto, in 1890 and 1891.

He conducted anthropological researches in British Columbia under the direction of the British Association for the Advancement of Science in the summer of 1891, and in 1894 was made secretary of the anthropological section of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Three years later he was secretary of the anthropological section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. He was a fellow in anthropology in Clark University, 1890 to 1892, received a Ph.D. degree from Clark University in 1892 and the same year became lecturer in anthropology at the University. In 1900 he was elected assistant professor of anthropology and in 1911 professor of anthropology. In 1898 he married Isabel Cushman of Worcester, who with one daughter survives him.

Copyright of Proceedings of the American Antiquarian Society is the property of American Antiquarian Society and its content may not be copied or emailed to multiple sites or posted to a listserv without the copyright holder's express written permission. However, users may print, download, or email articles for individual use.